

1) EACH TEST HAS ITS OWN SOLUTION

How do I know which type of test I am getting? The easiest way is to find out which company is performing the test:

- ESR (Govt lab in Wgtn or Akld) uses GCMS
- NZDDA uses a Screen followed by GCMS
- MedLab, doctors, medical clinics use Screens and EMIT

2) IMPORTANT INFO ABOUT SCREENS

Screens are simple indicative dipsticks, cards or colour-changing collection jars, with the result known within minutes.

! If you fail a Screen insist it is sent to the lab for proper analysis. Don't let them throw the sample away!

Screens do not meet the NZ Standard as they are inaccurate and may return false positives or negatives in 5-10% of cases. Their unreliability means it is not possible to guarantee any product will always beat them. Any failure must be confirmed with a proper lab test (EMIT or GCMS). If you have used the right product we guarantee you will pass the lab test.

3) FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- How long do the products take to work? Urine Luck®/Instant Additive® are ready to go. Quick Fix takes 30min to heat up (or 10 sec in microwave). You need at least three days off for OSC® to be effective. It takes 1 hour to work then lasts for 5 hours.
- Test yourself with our FirstStep® screens. These give you a good idea, however passing a screen doesn't guarantee you will also pass your actual test, as they are somewhat unreliable.

- Can't decide? We recommend Quick Fix®, it beats all the urine tests, is the most popular, and has a 100% lab pass rate.
- Long time heavy users should use Quick Fix® or Urine Luck®
- Other medications: Some medications can interfere with the test and cause a false positive (eg cough medicine = amphetamine) meaning you may have to do the test again. Check first with your GP or test provider. Avoid alcohol, strenuous exercise, caffeine, fatty foods and acidic foods in the 24 hours before your test as these can all influence the result.
- Employment and Privacy issues: Check your employment contract. No-one has the right to watch you pee. Employers cannot demean their employees. If privacy is an issue, OSC® is taken an hour before and you give a urine sample as normal.
- Why does The Hempstore sell these products? We don't advocate the use of drugs on the job, however urine testing does not test for this, nor does it measure impairment or intoxication. It finds metabolites which can stay in the body for weeks – long after the effects of any drug. Random drug testing contravenes the Bill of Rights and the Privacy Act, and violates the natural justice of presumption of innocence.
